

Meet our Ambassador... Sierra Longmoore

In July of 2020, Sierra fell victim to a car crash leaving her with a severe traumatic brain injury among many other injuries. She miraculously survived and now strives to help other survivors through Unmask the Invisible.

"Through this organization I hope to pay forward all the opportunities and support I have been given."

The Halo Fund

The Board of Directors at Unmask the Invisible created The Halo Fund, a growing resource aimed at easing the financial strain for TBI survivors and their families. Every dollar can make a meaningful difference to the survivor and family so they can concentrate on recovery. Learn more about The Halo Fund HERE.

TBI survivors and their families face more than just the uphill battle of recovery. There are steep medical expenses, groundbreaking treatments not covered by insurance, rent or mortgage payments that don't stop, and possibly the needs of other children or relatives who still require care. Severe TBI survivors often spend years in rehabilitation, with some unable to return to work, leaving family members to take on full-time caregiving roles or hire costly care services. You can help us make a positive impact in helping survivors and their families!

President's Message

Dear Friends,

Spring represents a season of renewal and hope. For those who have experienced trauma, it brings a yearning for transformation.

The blossoming flowers and the gentle warmth of the sun serve as reminders of the resilience found in nature and within ourselves. As trees begin to bud and landscapes burst into color, there's a sense of rejuvenation that mirrors the healing process.

It's a time to release what is holding us back and embrace new beginnings, allowing the spirit to bloom alongside the vibrant flora. The chirping of birds and the longer days invite moments of reflection and growth, encouraging us to step forward with courage and optimism. This season becomes a metaphor for personal growth, illustrating how, like nature, we too can emerge from the darkness of winter into the light of a promising and hopeful future.

We invite you to join our community of caring conversations through The Hope Cafe, no judgement, no commitment, come as you are. There is value in connecting with others on a similar journey. Visit our events page on our website for more information.

Amy Longmoore, Board President

What a night to remember! With the incredible Michael Petit—comedian, impressionist, and our energetic MC—leading the charge, the evening was packed with laughter, inspiration, and heartwarming moments. We heard touching stories from our board members Jerry Serra and Amy Longmoore, and were deeply moved by Kimberly Pruitt, our very first Halo Fund recipient and an amazing TBI survivor. Thank you to all of our sponsors, volunteers, and guests for making this event a success! Take a peek at our event pictures HERE. Mark your calendars for our 2nd Annual Chuckles for Charity on Friday, November 14, 2025. Tickets will go on sale in August of 2025.

Paint it Forward Kits

Art at any skill level promotes creativity and resiliency! It's proven to be a wonderful way to process emotions, increase creativity, and promote resiliency. Unmask The Invisible wants to Paint It Forward by offering simple art kits to TBI Survivors, their siblings, and caregiver. We invite you to request complementary Art Kits from The Sierra Project and Unmask the Invisible.

The kit contains art supplies and an information guide with support resources to help you along the TBI journey. When you complete a piece of artwork, join other artists from our TBI community, send it to us via our submission form!

We will post your masterpiece in our online Art Gallery and share it on social media. Your artwork helps us promote Unmask the Invisible to reach more TBI individuals to advocate for and support. Request your kit today!
